A Letter from the Executive Director

Sister Sirgut Emikael, MSc Public Health, Founder & Executive Director

Sister Sirgut Emikael, MSc Public Health, Founder & Executive Director

For twelve years I have walked the red-dirt paths of Legatafo at 5 a.m., listening to mothers count coins they do not have.
I have held infants while their mothers chose between buying teff or paying rent.
I have watched six-year-olds fall asleep in class because hunger is louder than the alphabet.

In 2013 we opened a single room with two benches and a promise:
No child will ever be left alone while their mother works.
No mother will ever lose her child to preventable poverty.

Today Freminatos is a 4,200 m² campus serving 387 children and 241 mothers daily.
We are not a daycare. We are not an orphanage.
We are the bridge that keeps families intact and dignity alive.

This document is more than bank coordinates.
It is an invitation to become co-authors of the most important story being written in eastern Addis Ababa:
the story of mothers who rise, children who thrive, and a community that refuses to look away.

With gratitude and unshakable hope,
Sister Sirgut Emikael

Freminatos Children and Mothers' Resource Center

Because separation is not the answer to poverty.
Because education without nutrition is privilege, not right.
Because a mother's economic freedom is the strongest vaccine against orphanhood.

One transfer. One mother stands taller.
One child dreams without limits.

That is the only mathematics we trust.
